

Commodity Codes Update—14th March, 2005

Patrick Stevedores and P&O Ports are implementing an updated list of commodity codes for reporting on a Pre Receival Advice (PRA) on Monday the 14th March 2005 at 6am.

These new codes are the result of much consultation with the stevedores, Shipping Australia and industry representatives, and aim to reduce the number of codes whilst ensuring improved data consistency. 1-Stop is also taking this opportunity to introduce a new validation process which will further improve response times for PRAs.

1-Stop recommends that you check the new commodity codes against the codes you currently use to ensure correct codes are used from the 14th of March.

What are the Changes?

The full list of new commodities are listed overleaf. Major changes include:

- A clearer separation of CHILLED and FROZEN commodities;
- Removal of the REEF Code – there are now new codes for specific products;
- Use FZPD – FROZEN PRODUCTS NOS* for unspecified frozen products;
- Use CHILL – CHILLED PRODUCTS NOS* for unspecified chilled products;
- Use FAN—FANTAINER for onions requiring a container on power;
- Set temperature ranges are now linked to specific commodities;
- Addition of the code MTHZ for Empty Hazardous containers containing hazardous residue. Please note, the PRA must include the Hazardous details;
- Addition of the code HAZD – for Hazardous in a reefer container – the PRA must include the reefer settings and hazardous details; and
- For Reefer commodities, minimum and maximum temperature ranges have been re-assessed and if a PRA is reported with a temperature setting outside of the set range, the PRA will be rejected.

* NOS = Not Otherwise Specified

For companies using a third party software or bureau providers to report PRAs, 1-Stop has been in direct consultation with them to ensure the new codes are available within your software from 6am on the 14th of March. The 1-Stop website, www.1-stop.biz, will also be updated with the new codes from this time.

If you would like any further information or assistance with the new commodity codes, please do not hesitate to contact the 1-Stop Help Desk on 1300 881 055 or helpdesk@1-stop.biz.
